

Institut d'enseignement à distance (IED)
Ecole de droit de la Sorbonne
Université de Paris I (Panthéon-Sorbonne)

Master
«Droit international, européen et comparé»

Comparative Law II

Mr Legrand

Final Examination 2022-2023

Authorized Documents

This is an “open-book” examination:
all documents are authorized.

Question

Whether in French or English, kindly offer your reaction to the text below by way of a personal and critical reflection referring in sustained manner to relevant documents featured on the course outline (and, if you so wish, to other documents too). By way of reminder, all relevant documents and the course outline are available at <www.pierre-legrand.com> at <IED>. Your essay must number 2000 words (inclusive of all references). It must be typewritten and submitted electronically at <pierre_legrand@mac.com> no later than Saturday, 6 May 2023 at 6h00 PM (Paris time) in .doc, .docx or .pdf extension only. Your submission will be acknowledged by return e-mail. Any failure to submit on time or to abide by the stated requirements will be penalized at the instructor's discretion. The mark will count as your final grade for the course “Comparative Law II”.

“[I]t would be a mistake to give up the truth-seeking aspiration of interpretation altogether”.

[“Ce serait une erreur que de renoncer complètement à l'aspiration de l'interprétation à la recherche de la vérité”.]

—Peter Lamarque, “Appreciation and Literary Interpretation” in Michael Krausz (ed.), Is There a Single Right Interpretation?
(Pennsylvania State University Press, 2002), p. 305.