

Legal Traditions of the World places national laws in the broader context of major legal traditions, those of chthonic (or indigenous) law, talmudic law, civil law, islamic law, common law, hindu law and confucian law. Each tradition is examined in terms of its institutions and substantive law, its founding concepts and methods, its attitude towards the concept of change and its teaching on relations with other traditions and peoples.

This book will be invaluable to law students and lawyers engaged in comparative or transnational work, historians, social scientists and all those interested in the legal traditions that underpin the world's major societies.

H. Patrick Glenn is the Peter M. Laing Professor of Law at McGill University, Montreal and a member of the International Academy of Comparative Law.

Cover images: Hisham Ibrahim/Getty Images, Tim Branch, Blue Eyes Photography Ltd/Alamy, www.imagesource.com, Shyamalamuralinath/Shutterstock, GTS Production/Shutterstock.

'the book that needed to be written'

American Journal of Comparative Law

'an effective "antidote" to the clash of civilizations'

Verfassung und Recht in Obersee

'firmly based in social theory and history
... thought provoking and stimulating'

Times Higher Education

'a superb book'

Journal of South Pacific Law

'colourful, interesting and stimulating
... the account of common law tradition
is even more fascinating'

Hong Kong Law Journal

'dense, theoretical yet accessible chapters
... its sheer academic brilliance cannot be denied'

Maastricht Journal of European and Comparative Law

'illuminating and ground breaking work'

Stellenbosch Law Review

'an opus extra ordinem'

European Review of Private Law

'always enlightening ... another vision
of the legal world'

Revue de droit international et de droit comparé

'Glenn has succeeded magnificently'

Cambridge Law Journal